Awaiting the official count of the vote by the state canvassing board the State of Missouri seems to have gone Republican.

Judge Hays, the Republican candidate for Congress, of Cape Girardeau county, claims his election over Congressman Russell by a small majority in this district.

The Republicans had better not let Roosevelt hear that some of the party leaders are already booming St. Fess, of Ohio, a member of Congress and chairman of the Republican congressional committee, as their candidate for President in 1920, or they will have a fight on their hands right now. Roosevelt claims to own the Republican party, body, boots and britches, and he won't stand for any foolish presidential candidate talk that does not take him into consideration. He is IT in the Republican party, in his opinion, and the members of the party are to find it out if they don't already know it.

Sergeant Chester Hallum, who belongs to the headquarters company, at Camp Pike, Little Rock, and is a drill sergeant, having been in the regular service for a term or two before the war, came home yesterday for a short furlough visit with his wife and the folks at home.

The annual convention of the Cane Creek Association, of Missionary Baptists, which was held at Bay Springs church, in Butler county, this year, voted to hold their next meeting with the Baptist church in this city next year.

The convention this year had a large attendance and much interest was taken in the sessions.

R. C. Barrett, R. J. Seymour, T.

L. Pulliam, C. O. Booker, E. S.

Williams, R. E. Lee, Rev. D. K.

Foster, George Gomer and J. Ad-

Thomas, of this city, and Jesse I.

Ponder, of Neesleyville, left here last Monday for their annual deer hunt in the northwest part of the county, on Running Water, but after their arrival there they decided to go on and make their camp at Cedar Bluff. Their supplies and camping outfit went on up Sunday. Messrs. Pulliam and Seymour came back last evening to look after some business matters, and returned this morning.
